IRS Economic Impact Payments Update

Here's the latest guidance on the Economic Impact Payments (of $1200 per adult, $500 per child 16 and younger) that are schedule to start being distributed this month.

Click below to see the IRS page with details and guidance, which was updated yesterday.

Also, according to the Social Security Administration these payments will not be considered as income. See more details here.

Here's an informative article from the Center for Law and Social Policy (CLASP) on the effects of Economic Impact Payments for those on Medicaid, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and public housing:

Webinar: How to Boost Your Spirits and Lower Your Stress Level During These Crazy Times

This is a free webinar offered by David Lee, an internationally recognized authority on organizational and managerial practices that optimize employee performance.

In these crazy coronavirus times...what can you do to keep out of fear, not be anxious or stressed all the time, and have an "I've got this!" attitude when not a whole lot in the external world would lead one to feel optimistic?

In this webinar, we'll focus on what's in your Circle of Control.

IMPORTANT: Complete the 2020 Census!

The disability community is historically under-counted during the census. We are encouraging people with disabilities to be sure that they are a part of this census count!

The 2020 Census will determine congressional representation, inform hundreds of billions in federal funding every year to more than 100 programs, including:

- Medicaid
- Head Start
- Block grants for community mental health services
- DD Act programs

They provide data that will impact communities for the next decade. You can be counted by filling out a census form online, by mail, or a census worker may visit your home. The census will never ask you:

- Social Security, Bank, or Account Numbers
- Anything about Political Parties
- For Money or Donations

THERE ARE NO CITIZENSHIP QUESTIONS ON THE CENSUS!
