Developmental Disabilities and Sexuality 101

ELEVATUS TRAINING

A virtual training opportunity presented by Katherine McLaughlin

Community Support Network, Inc is partnering with Elevatus Training to offer this workshop.

Friday, September 30th, 2022 from 9 AM – 4PM

People with developmental disabilities are often left out of the conversation about sexuality, almost as if they are incapable of having thoughts, feelings, and needs. In reality, they, too, are sexual beings that need information and skills for making healthy decisions about sexuality.

As someone who works or is a family member of a person with developmental disabilities, you may be the most likely person to discuss sexuality with them, or someone with a developmental disability may approach you with questions about sexuality. Also, as a self-advocate, you may have questions and situations that you need information and support around, but may not think it is ok to talk about this topic.

This workshop will help you become more comfortable talking about this sensitive topic by discussing what needs to be taught when and how to help people with developmental disabilities have safe and satisfying relationships.

Learning Objectives:

- Gain knowledge about sexuality and specific issues for people with developmental disabilities.
- Explore our own values and attitudes regarding sexuality and people with developmental disabilities.
- Examine what are healthy boundaries and how to speak up around your boundaries.
- Explore ways you can support a self-advocate in having healthy boundaries.
